THREE HARVEST EXCURSIONS

Half Rates via the Illinois Central Aug. 30, Sept. 27 and Oct. 25th, 1892.

The Central Route will sell excursion tickets to the Agricultural Regions of the West, Southwest and South, at one fare for the round trip, from stations on its lines north of Cairo, on August 30th and September 25th. A third excursion will be run to the South and Southwest on October 25th. Your local ticket agent will give you full particulars in regard to these Harvest Excursions; arrangements can also be made in this connection to visit the desirable Railroad Lands for sale by the Illinois Central in Southern Illinois on obtaining special permission to do so by addressing the Company's Land Commissioner at Chicago, Mr. E. P. Skene. In addition, a few weeks before the first excursion date, your local ticket agent will be able to furnish you with a special folder, issued by the Illinois Central, which will give you particulars of these Harvest Excursions in such form as will enable you to plan your journey at home. Should you not be within call of a railroad ticket agent, address A. H. Hanson, G. P. A., Illinois Central R. R., Chicago, Ill. 8-4-92

A Sunset.

Great Salt Lake is but one of the matchless spectacles to be seen in Utah. A new book "Utah, a Peep into a Mountain Walled Treasury of the Gods," is now issued and can be had postpaid by sending 25 cents to J. H. Bennett, Salt Lake City. It is expected that the Knights Templar and others visiting Colorado the coming season will extend their trip to Utah, via the Rio Grande Western Railroad in both directions. This road affords choice of three distinct routes and the most magnificent scenery in the world. Equipment unequalled in the West. Two trains daily across the continent.

OVER THE ELECTRIC.

Story About A Woman Who Rode All Day On It.

A trip over the electric. That is the way people refer to their first ride over the M. C. S. G. & A. Electric Railway, and there are scores of people in this town who say that the ride to Girardville and return is "just delightful" and worth the time as much as it costs. People ride because they enjoy skimming along the highway at the speed of the average train on a steam road; and then they feel perfectly safe in a street car, for accidents seldom happen on street car lines.

Two round trips at one sitting usually satisfies the average patron of the line, but occasionally people board on one end who find such comfort in the easy motion of the coach and so many companionable people among the passengers that they feel compelled to make it three or even four times around. The record breaker in this connection, however, is a Lost Creek lady accompanied by her husband, took their first ride on the electric Saturday morning. By the time they had made the first round trip both were so pleased that they decided to take the second ride over the line.

The second trip only increased their desire for more of the same kind of pleasure. "This just beats buggy riding all to pieces, and then it's so cheap," said the woman. Say, James, suppose we ride two dollars worth on the car, what do you say?" James nodded assent and the woman rattled along talking to her husband or to the passengers within the sound of her voice. The husband nodde and slept, but was always awake when the conductor came to collect fare until at the end of five hours he complained of being hungry and went home for a lunch.

His "mission," however, declared that she was neither hungry or tired and as they had not spent all the cash set apart for the luxury she proposed to stay and ride it out. And she did stay until the conductor politely told her that the limit had been reached for the day and she would be obliged to drop off at her home or walk the return trip from the car house on foot. The conductor spoke in accents mild but firm, the news gently to his all day passenger, but the woman failed to appreciate the effort and when she stepped from the car she muttered just loud enough for the conductor to hear: "I've had a good time and have some change left, but I don't think it's a bit nice to put a woman off when she is just beginning to enjoy herself."

THE GOLDEN ROSE.

Gift of the Pope to Queen Amelia, of Portugal.

When the "Golden Rose," the gift of the pope to Queen Amelia, of Portugal, was presented to her by the envoy of his holiness, Marquis Jules de Sacchetti, in the church of the Necessidades in Lisbon, amid imposing ceremonies, the event marked an epoch of fifty years since a queen of Portugal received this distinguished honor. In 1842 Maria II. da Gloria won it, and she was the first queen of Portugal to get it after a lapse of three hundred years. This golden rose, says the New York Sun, is the premium of the popes of Rome for the best, the most religious, and most virtuous among the queens of Europe; but, unfortunately, there has lately grown up a wicked suspicion that it brings hard luck, because a great many royal ladies who gained it lost their thrones shortly afterward. It surely is not to be inferred that Leo XIII. sent it to the innocent queen with the diabolical intention to dethrone her and establish a republic in Portugal. It is a beautiful present, thus described in a leading Paris paper: "Upon a tall, triangular socle there stands a sort of chalice with the pontifical arms engraved upon it, and from this there emerges a cluster of golden roses, one of which, larger and in fuller bloom than the others, sparkles with dewdrops all of diamonds. In the heart of this rose there is a little cacheette, a valve into which the balsam and perfumes are introduced at the moment of the benediction." It is needless to say that this splendid rose has made the queen as happy as a big snuff-box. God save her majesty Queen Amelia!

Man-of-War on the Way.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sep. 29.—Despite the denial from London that a British man-of-war had been sent to Siberia to secure the release of the Canadian sealers now supposed to be held prisoners there by the Russians, Hon. C. H. Tupper, Canadian Minister of Marine, says the man-of-war is now on its way.

"Judge." The Omaha Bee, in speaking of Judge says that his last year work in 1884, excellent work in 1888, but that in this campaign it is outdoing itself. Judge was never making such great hits as it is this year; it is leaving all its rivals behind. Such great pictures as the 'Cleveland Parachute' and the 'Bristing's Peck boom' are memorable in campaign cartooning. But Judge has some great pictures in store, and the 'Bristing's Peck boom' for the next five weeks of the campaign will be sent for fifty cents. Address the Judge Publishing Co., 110 Fifth Avenue, New York City.
